Funds available for job training of area residents

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Area residents may apply through the end of February with the Mississippi Employment Service for a job training program being funded by a $1 million grant.

The grant which was awarded in mid-October by the Department of Labor, is targeted for Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties to aid individuals displaced from their work by Hurricane Elena.

"Only persons directly affected by the hurricane, particularly those who lost their job and are not likely to return to it are eligible for the grant funds," said Dr. Worth Haynes, director of the state Department of Job Development and Training.

Haynes said currently there are only about 30 of the 180 targeted figure who have qualified for the training program.

"Timing was the factor that has made the task of finding eligible people difficult," Haynes added.

Although the grant was announced in October, official notification was not received until late November, he said.

"More people could have been helped if the funds had been available sooner," he said.

Persons who qualify for the program can receive up to 30 weeks of training, Haynes said.

"No cap has been set but we anticipate between $1,000-$5,000 per eligible person," he added.

Originally the Gulf Coast Private Industry Council was to control the utilization of the grant funds, but the council voted in December to return the funds to the state.

"There were too many restrictions and snags to be able to utilize the funds efficiently," Andy Cuttler, council member said.

"The only one that can benefit from the grant funds are those that are permanently displaced from their jobs by the hurricane and we were only able to find about a dozen who qualified," Cuttler added.

The council declined the use of the funds at the December meeting, he said.

through July 15 and workers will be paid an hourly rate of $3.35 for an average of 30 hours per week.

The program requires workers be a student at least 15 years old and a resident of Bay St. Louis.

Resumes can be mailed to: Parks and Playgrounds, P.O. Box 307, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520. They must be in by Friday, March 7. Resumes are also required from students who worked in the program last year and are interested in working again.

The program will run from April 1

Hancock Bank mini-branch opens in Pearlington

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Hancock Bank after an absence of over 65 years has returned to the Pearlington Community with a mini-branch grand opening Friday.

Hancock Bank, which now covers the entire Mississippi Gulf Coast, was established as the Hancock County Bank in 1899 in Bay St. Louis and opened its first branch in 1902 at Pearlington.

Bank history reports that Joseph Cazeneuve, vice-president was in charge of the Pearlington branch and had to use three modes of transportation to reach the facility from Bay St. Louis.

Cazeneuve would travel by the Louisville and Nashville commuter train to English Lookout, transfer to a boat to Logtown and then by wagon to Pearlington.

Leo Seal Jr., Hancock Bank president said, "Electronic Banking has helped in the opening of this mini-branch, and we feel this will be a great asset for the people of Pearlington and its growth."

The new banking facility is located in the Cuevas Grocery on Highway 604 and is the first of this type of operation for Hancock Bank.

Hancock Bank also maintained a branch at nearby Logtown Community until 1938. Logtown became a portion of the buffer zone for the Mississippi Test Facility now known as the National Space Test Laboratory.

Roy Baxter, businessman and a lifelong resident of Pearlington and Logtown stated, "I think it is an asset to Pearlington and will help our community grow."

Seal reported Hancock Bank already has many customers in Pearlington and the mini-branch will help with many of their banking needs without having to make a 40-mile round trip to Bay St. Louis.

A site is now being prepared for another Hancock Bank branch in Waveland.

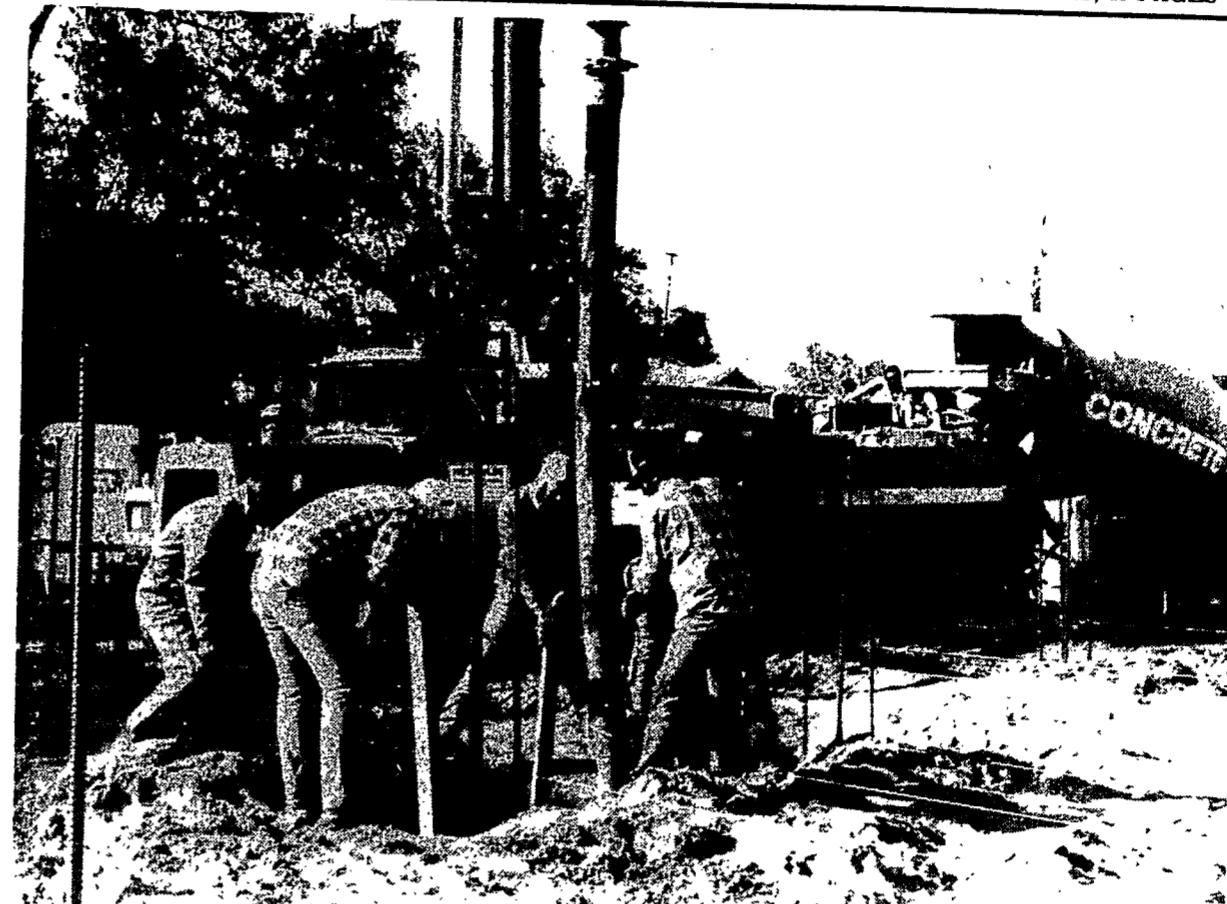

Ronald Cuevas, owner of Cuevas Grocery was elated, "We are extremely happy to have the mini-branch in Pearlington," he said, "and we appreciate the community support already given to the facility. The bank is a great asset for Pearlington."

Mary Ladner is the branch manager with banking hours from 9 to 10 a.m. Monday through Thursdays, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Fridays.

Seal said she can open new accounts, issue money orders, issue new certificates of deposit and explain other banking services.

Customers with Handy Cards cards will be able to get cash 24 hours a day from the Handy Bank.

The grand opening was attended by officials of Hancock Bank, Hancock County elected officers, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce officers and directors, in addition to Pearlington residents.

Truck on the left receives wet concrete from mixer truck on right and pumps the material through the hose onto site locations inaccessible to the heavy trucks. The concrete pouring began Wednesday afternoon. The jail is being constructed between The Sea Coast Echo Building and Family Lines Railroad tracks in downtown Bay St. Louis. The new $2.5 million facility is designed by architect Fred Wagner. The contractor is Roy Anderson of Gulfport. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Supervisors, legislators plan local bill meeting

BY DENA BISNETTE

Two members of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors will travel to Jackson this week to meet with legislators about local and private bills affecting Hancock County.

Beat One Supervisor Bert Corrige and Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Lander plan to look into the progress of four bills, including one proposed by Corrige on Thursday.

Three are local and private bills. The fourth bill is general legislation but was requested by the Hancock County supervisors.

Corrige proposed Thursday that the board request a local and private bill raising fines for littering public property in the county to a minimum of $50 and a maximum of $500.

The present fines are $20 for litter on the beach and $50 for public rights-of-way elsewhere in the county.

Corrige said he feels the present fines are too small to deter littering.

"An officer will hardly bother with writing a ticket for a fine that low," he said. "A bigger fine would be more of a deterrence than what we have now."

The board approved the proposal, the third request approved for a local and private bill to be introduced during this legislative session.

Other bills include a request for a referendum on a county building code.

The board has temporarily returned the matter of a building code to the County Planning Commission.

The commission is awaiting a state attorney general's opinion on whether or not it is legal to enact a piecemeal building code, but obtaining that opinion will not be necessary if the local and private bills passes, said Board President A.A. Kellar.

Kellar said all of the county's voters would be allowed to participate if a referendum is approved.

Referendums are not usually handled through local and private bills, which affect only one specific legislative district or county rather than the entire state.

Instead, the board declares and advertises its intent to take a particular action and voters opposed to that action petition for a referendum.

The remaining local and private bill deals with use of road and bridge funds for recreation.

The recreation bill, if approved, would allow the board to use some of its road and bridge funds to construct and maintain recreational facilities. Use of those funds for recreation is presently not allowed by state law.

General legislation requested concerns an increase in tax for fire protection districts and an increase in the amount of homestead exemption allowed for elderly and disabled homeowners.

Representative Walter James Phillips said in a telephone interview Friday that all of the bills except the one dealing with litter fines and the one concerning fire protection districts have been introduced and will probably be considered next week.

The bill asking that taxes for fire protection districts be increased from a maximum of two mills to a maximum of four mills has passed in the House of Representatives and is now under consideration of the Senate, Phillips said.

The homestead exemption bill Phillips introduced died in committee.

In addition, Corrige and Lander plan to meet with state officials to try to obtain some guidelines on how to fund beachfront repair and maintenance in the county.

Corrige said the two hope to be able to find out if about $500,000 per year is seawall taxes can be applied to shore protection and repair of Beach Road.

The seawall taxes were originally used for these purposes but were diverted a number of years ago to pay off a bond issue for the County Port and Harbor Authority.

The repair project is estimated to cost about $10 million for road reconstruction, construction of a sheet piling seawall and placement of a partial sand berm for shore protection purposes, the supervisor added.

Some of the tax could be used to help provide 50 percent matching funds for a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers shore protection study needed before work can begin on the project, Corrige said.

In addition, the county could probably borrow about $5 million if it obligated the tax funds.

Kellar, however, disagreed. He said he feels that the seawall monies will not be released until payment of the bond issue is completed.

The bond issue payments, which total more than $9 million, are due to be paid off in the early 1990s.

Suspect list narrowed in Christmas homicide

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The number of suspects under investigation in connection with the Dec. 25 shooting death of Frank Lombardo Jr. has been narrowed, police reported this week.

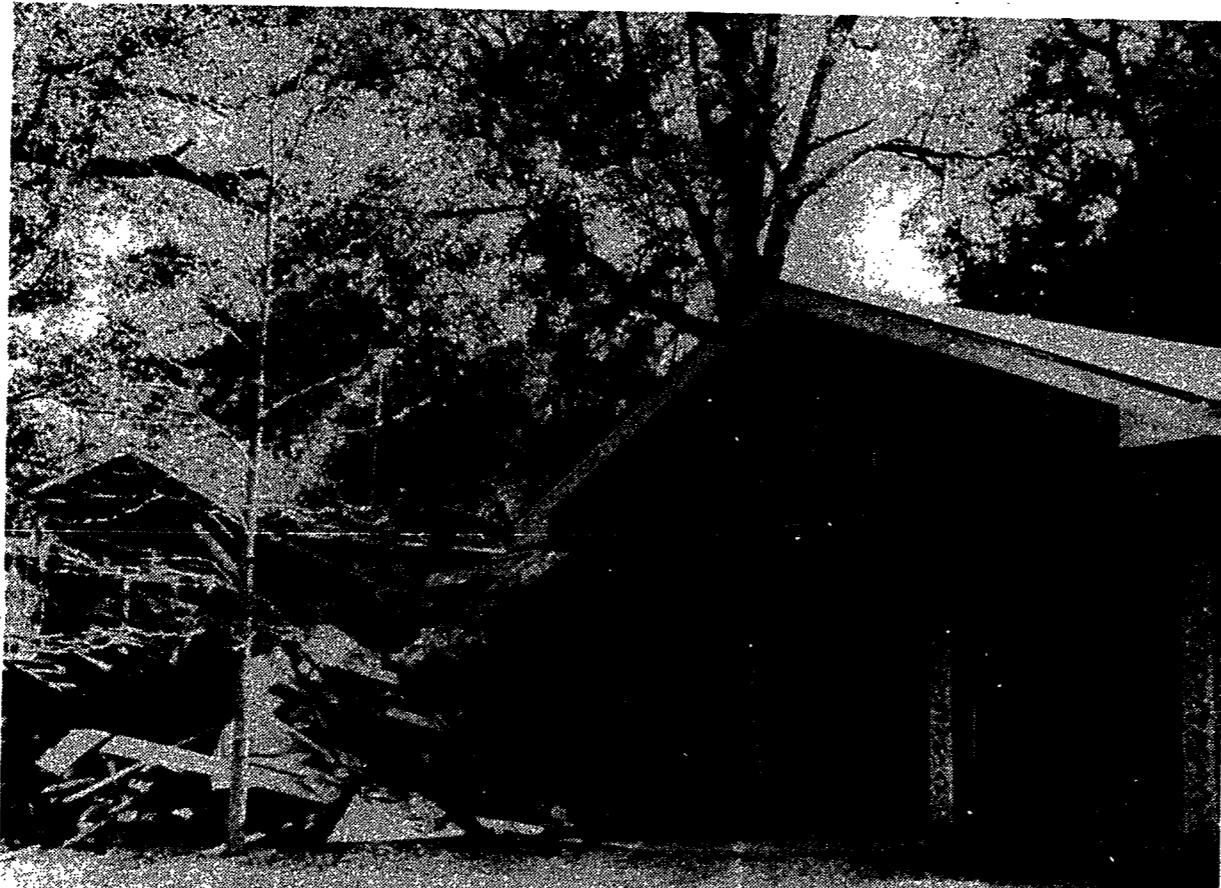

Bay St. Louis Detective David Murtagh said law enforcement officials involved in the investigation believe they know who is responsible for Lombardo's death but are still gathering evidence.

Early last week the house where Lombardo was killed, at 114

McDonald Lane was released to Robert Kane, the owner.

Work is currently underway at the house to rebuild the areas damaged by the fire which was set in the house, also on Dec. 25.

EXTENSIVE REPAIRS are underway at the house which was the scene of the death of Frank Lombardo Jr. Dec. 25. Evidence gathered at the house, located at 114 McDonald Lane, indicates arson was the cause of the fire, set shortly after Lombardo's death. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

CHAMPION DOGS

"Farmweek" will visit champion stock dog (border collie) handler David Rogers on a program to air at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 24, on Mississippi ETV.

Rogers, who lives in Perkinston in Stone County, will discuss how his hobby of showing the stock dogs in competition has increased his use of the dogs as an integral part of his farm work.

Rogers' border collies placed first, second, and third place in the Alabama Stock Dog Association's American Grand Finals competition in Dothan, Alabama, this fall.

These dogs are "working" dogs in the true sense of the word, and Rogers has been able to trim his labor and operational costs since beginning to use them for herding on the farm.

"Farmweek" will also explore a new Extension Service effort to bring the producers of Mississippi specialty products together to solve common problems.

Supervisors offered new grading method

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has been offered a new type of road grading service patented by a Hancock County resident.

The board was addressed Thursday by J.C. Seal of Kiln, inventor of a grading device patented under the name Byonic Blayne, and Stan Wood, a business and municipal consultant.

Seal said he recently sold the patent on the device to a Vicksburg firm but has been operating a grading service for several U.S. Forestry Service districts in Mississippi.

Wood said Seal's grading method has been so effective that one of those districts cancelled its spring grading contract because the roads did not need further grading.

Seal said he can grade the county's roads at a cost equivalent to the annual salaries for the six grader operators the supervisors currently employ.

In addition, Seal would furnish all equipment and fuel for any grading projects.

Wood said he has attended several bid openings for grading projects involving Seal and said Seal's highest bid was $28 per mile while other bidders averaged $60 to $85 per mile.

Board President A.A. Kellar said he is familiar with Seal's grading methods but took the matter under advisement because two board members, James Travirca and Sam Pernicaro, were absent because they were attending meetings in Jackson.

In other business Thursday, the board:

—Approved setting up an insurance committee to determine which insurance policies should be made available to county employees and authorized Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise to set up the committee; and —Heard a proposal from Shirley Knight of American Heritage Life Insurance on cancer insurance for county employees.

The board meets again on Feb. 27.

County approves two more bird sanctuaries

BY DENA BISNETTE

Two more Hancock County subdivisions have been declared bird and game sanctuaries.

The Board of Supervisors approved the establishment of bird and game sanctuaries in BaySide Park and Shoreline Estates, also known as Garden Isles, at a Thursday public hearing.

Enforcement of sanctuary regulations will begin after the boundaries of the new sanctuaries have been advertised for 30 days.

No one who attended the public hearing objected to the establishment of the new sanctuaries, although about 10 people supported the decision.

No hunting of birds or game is allowed in a sanctuary although fishing, crabbing and collection of other seafood is legal.

The killing of certain species classified as destructive to gardens or crops is also permitted.

Possession of guns or hunting dogs is not prohibited unless other evidence shows sanctuary regulations have been violated.

The regulations will be enforced by the sheriff's department, constables, game wardens and other peace officers.

The addition of BaySide Park and Shoreline Estates brings the number of sanctuaries in the county to eight.

Existing sanctuaries include Diamondhead, Jourdan River Shores, Jourdan River Estates, Belle Isles, Harbor Estates and Bayou Phillips.

Cook contempt ruling reversed by court

The Mississippi Supreme Court has reversed a criminal contempt ruling against Bay St. Louis attorney Henry J. Cook III.

The ruling, made in March 1983, involved a child custody case resulting from the 1977 divorce of Annette Walker and Robert D. Walker.

Cook, who represented Annette Walker, was found in contempt by Chancery Judge John Morris who fined him $500 for his role in denying Robert Walker visiting rights with the couple's daughter.

Cook had reportedly advised Annette Walker to go against a custody decree granting visiting rights for the then 11-year-old girl to Robert Walker.

Annette Walker, however, told the court that going against the visiting rights was her action after learning that her former husband had had overnight female visitors during weekends his daughter stayed with him and that Cook had advised her only of the consequences of curtailing those visiting privileges.

The Supreme Court opinion, written by Justice James Robertson, stated in part, "Not every deviation from the directives of a court order is criminal contempt, even though knowingly done or counseled."

Yellow poplar, bald cypress, green ash, sycamore and pine seedlings will be available Tuesday and Wednesday at the MFC office on Dunbar Avenue behind Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis or at the SWCD office on Hwy. 603 in Kiln.

Quotables by Cuevas 99

An important blood drawing will be conducted at the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Home on Wednesday from 3 to 8 p.m.

Our blood supply is very low, and we are hoping there will be many donors for this drawing.

The Hancock County Blood Bank has been in operation for a very long time and John Rutherford, chairman said there is a need for some new donors.

Persons who are 17 and physically able are needed.

We would like to see the quota of 100 units reached on Wednesday.

Remember the drawing will be from 3 to 8 p.m. at the Legion home on Green Meadow Road, Bay St. Louis.

Home owners have until April 1 to file for Homestead Exemptions.

Forms have been mailed from the assessor's office and we are sure some home owners have failed to sign and return.

In case you have forgotten, and are qualified, it would be a good idea to file now, as it could mean a very large savings on property taxes next year.

If you think you qualify for Homestead Exemption and have not received the forms by mail, you may want to give the Hancock County Tax Collector-Assessor's office a call.

Our Hancock County Board of Supervisors 'Clean Our Beach Day' is fast approaching, and many folks have been working very hard in preparations.

There are some 18 sub-committees working on the project, as well as our elected officials.

It is an encouragement to see the response which has been received from so many of our organizations, garden clubs, businesses, and residents on this venture.

Many long hours of planning have gone into this project scheduled for next Saturday, and it is hoped there will be a large turnout.

Registration will be from 9 to 10 a.m. next Saturday at the American Legion's parking lot in Waveland.

Teams will receive assignment areas for collections from 10 a.m. to noon.

Refreshments and hot dogs are planned at noon on Beach Boulevard between Coleman Avenue and Terrace Street.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 20, 7:30 a.m. at the Wheel Inn Restaurant.

Jeff Taylor, project coordinator for the Hancock County Sand Beach Master Plan, will be the guest speaker.

John Scafide and I will also talk about the Clean Our Beach Day scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 22.

STILL REMEMBERED

You're gone but still remembered,
We'll see your face no more.
But when we join that angelic host
We'll meet again beside the shore.
You're gone but still remembered,
You left behind a lovely past.
We need not mourn your going away
We'll see you when we die at last.
You're gone but still remembered,
Great and noble was your life.
You withstood the sting of the strife.
You're gone but still remembered,
Your deeds were motivated by love,
We know you are resting with God,
In the heaven above.
Gone! Yes! but still remembered.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

The Legislature has moved quickly and enthusiastically in support of governor succession. And public opinion polls indicate voters are overwhelmingly supportive of the principle that a governor should be permitted to immediately succeed himself in office.

But the issue hasn't been resolved and proponents of governor succession need to keep this in mind.

At this point the Legislature has voted to permit a vote on the question of governor succession. The issue will be on the general election.

ballot in Mississippi in November of this year.

The work isn't over. Those who favor succession should use the time between February and November to enlist other support, to explain why governor succession is important to Mississippi, to carry the message to all corners of the state.

We can't afford to rest now with victory in sight. There is still work to be done. Let's celebrate in November, after the general election.

SAFETY TIPS FOR TAKING MEDICINE

(Presented as a public service by the Mississippi State Medical Association and this newspaper.)

There is a right way and a wrong way to do most things, including taking medicine.

When medicine is taken correctly, the exact dose is taken at the proper time, under conditions that insure against error.

The Mississippi State Medical Association offers a few useful directions for taking medicines:

— Store medicines in a cabinet, preferably locked, away from the reach of children.

— Keep only medicines currently in use.

— Destroy old prescriptions, because many drugs lose potency or may be chemically changed by time.

— Read the label in a good light before opening the bottle or box. Read it again before taking the medicine.

— If you have more than one box of pills or capsules to take, be sure one is closed before opening the other. This avoids switching covers, and also labels.

— When pouring from a bottle, keep the label up so that any dripping will not soil the label and make it hard to read.

— Never take medicines in the dark. If it's late at night, turn on the light. If you wear glasses for reading, put them on.

— Keep medicines away from the bedside table. Make it necessary to get up and cross the room to get them. It is too easy to take an overdose if the medication is accidentally repeated during the night while sleeping.

— Keep medicines in the original labeled container. If you carry pills in a pill box, paste a small label inside the lid.

— Avoid taking medicines for children which is disguised as candy, and also never encourage children to take their medicine by telling them it is "candy." The child may find the medicine and take the whole bottle.

A SHABBY WELCOME—Motorists entering Hancock County on US-90 from Louisiana in Pearlington are greeted by this pile of debris. This area we have been told in previous years is the highway right-of-way, and we wonder why it always appears to be very junky looking. This is not the same trash we took photos of last year, but as you can see, it is a big eye sore for motorists entering our county. It is hoped this eye sore will be looked into by the proper authorities. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas.)

Dear Sir,

I would like to make a comment on my gas bill. I have lived in Waveland three months. I received my first bill on Dec. 7, '85, which was $21.99; my second bill Jan. 2, '86 was $43.90.

I decided to move, so I notified the water and gas department.

I received my next bill on Jan. 15, '86, which was $134.95.

My bill has tripled. My lifestyle has not changed.

I am a single parent, with two children. I work and my children are in school. When I leave my house I make sure my heater is off, which helps keep my bill low.

My house consists of two small bedrooms, one bath, a living room and a kitchen—a very small house.

It amazes me that when you add my water and gas bill together that $100 is all that is left of my $155 deposit and this is not my final bill.

I have a question for the citizens of Waveland: I would like to know if any of you have experienced a problem like this?

If you have, please contact me.

Illegal aliens contribute to national budget woes

Letter to the Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Editor:

The first step one should take toward curing a disease is to realize that one is sick, then try to find out what caused the sickness.

Our national illness seems to have been caused by a budget in serious need of balancing. The truth is overspending is what ails this nation. Over-spending on illegal aliens is part of the problem. Also the welfare system needs reforming and major surgery.

Fact. We should get on with the treatment and this is not minor surgery. The United States has lost control of its borders and immigrants are flocking in like hogs to the feed trough to enjoy the benefits of our Welfare State. Most of them have no scruples when it comes to documentation fraud or illegal entry.

Does the end justify the means? For the alien the answer is yes. Some of the benefits are jobs, tax supported medical services, food stamps, free education, social security checks.

It just isn't right for the American taxpayers to foot the bills—hospital, welfare, etc.—for these people.

What should be included in the recommended treatment for this sickness? Perhaps a good start would be re-issue of Social Security cards—tamper-proof ones.

It would help to replace some of the liberal judges who have ruled that aliens can go on welfare as soon as they come into this country.

We have no record of lung cancer being caused by the smoking of just one cigarette. It is habitual and repeated vice that brings on disease.

Warning: The American people have determined that illegal aliens are endangering employment of American Citizens. And that's a fact. An aspirin isn't going to cure this headache. What we need is action. Where to get it? Ask your congressman.

Sincerely,
Joe Pilet

JACKSON— To the average Mississippian the anguish being expressed around the State Capitol about the fiscal crisis and disastrous budget cuts may seem far removed and something that will not affect him personally.

Perhaps nothing can bring closer to home the impact of the state's dilemma in trying to maintain decent services in the face of the present financial crunch than to look at what is about to happen to the Medicaid program.

Medicaid is probably the best and most cost effective service that the state offers. It reaches directly 300,000 Mississippians who are medically needy. It provides nursing home care for 13,000 elderly Mississippians, so they may spend their last years in dignity without being a burden on their financially strapped families.

It puts into the Mississippi economy over $400 million a year, 78 percent of which comes from the federal government (or DID come from the federal government). These are dollars which turn over immediately in the trade and business channels of the state.

Who benefits from those dollars?

The corner druggist, the local grocer, the local doctor, the local hospital, the local nursing home, that's who.

And, of course, thousands of Mississippians are getting a far better quality of medical care than did their forebears not many years ago.

This fiscal year, the Legislature put up $90 million in state funds for Medicaid, to get back $318 million in federal funds. In the bare-bones budget proposed in December by the Legislative Budget Office for next fiscal year, the state appropriation would be cut to $85 million, significantly reducing the matching federal funds.

Then last week, the grim news came to state fiscal leaders that because of declining state tax collections and the impact of the proposed federal fund cuts, an 11 percent reduction, amounting to $81 million, had to be made in anticipated revenues for FY 87.

This 11 percent reduction translated into another $9.35 million in state money being taken from the Medicaid appropriation, for a total of $14.35 million. The total impact of that would be to shave $87.5 million from Medicaid next year.

When he received the news of the 11 percent cut, Medicaid director B. F. Simmons looked like a man who had just been kicked in the stomach by a mule. He knew this meant hurtful cutbacks were going to have to be made in the program, and he would be the one who would have to send out the news.

Here's what the projected cut in state funds would mean, Simmons figured:

* 3,400 old persons would be forced out of nursing homes in the state, unless their families would be able to pick up the tab now paid by Medicaid.

* 112,000 Medicaid recipients who now get prescription medicines under the program would no longer be able to get them, meaning $40 million will be yanked from the cash registers of local drug stores throughout the state.

* elimination of $3.8 million which now goes to proprietary nursing homes and hospitals in return on equity payments.

The net effect of the above cuts, Simmons says, would be calamitous in the nursing home industry, forcing a number of them out of business.

Simmons has asked Gov. Bill Allain for the go-ahead to send out letters to all 300,000 Medicaid recipients on March 1 warning them of the possible reductions in the program, if there is no hope the state fiscal situation will change very shortly.

"You can imagine the amount of anxiety and trauma this sort of situation creates among our elderly citizens, especially those in nursing homes," Simmons declared last week.

The prospect that 3,400 mommas, grandmommas, or old dads would be put out of the nursing home and the family would have to take care of them is going to lay the state fiscal crisis

Legislative Update Week of Feb. 2

By Rosa Lee H. Jones

A 1987 state budget already cut to the bone was slashed another $81 million Thursday by the Legislative Budget Committee, with the federal Gramm-Rudman Act and falling world oil prices the two chief culprits.

State appropriations will be cut $37.5 million, with the rest of the reduction coming from expected losses in federal funds due to Gramm-Rudman, a budget reduction law designed to create a balanced budget by 1990. Falling oil prices will result in $21.5 million less in oil and gas severance taxes than state officials had anticipated.

Gov. Bill Allain supplied legislators with his own version of a funding crunch when he literally etched in stone his determination to veto any tax increase.

Allain also surprised the state Highway Department by handing down an executive order to freeze spending on highway construction projects not already begun.

Attorney General Ed Pittman said Allain, himself a former attorney general, had no legal authority to take control of the Highway Department.

Based on Pittman's opinion, the Highway Department has resumed normal operations. The issue may be settled in court, with both Pittman and Allain charging the other is motivated by political ambition.

Both the House and Senate had OK'd $10 million cuts in the 1987 highway budget and half a million in the 1986 budget. Allain says at least $18 million in surplus funds should be cut from the department's budget. Unless lifted by the courts, Allain's executive order will remain in effect until an audit is conducted to determine how much unobligated money the Highway Department really has.

Occupying most of the legislature's time during the session's fifth week was a frantic rush to get bills out of committee before the midnight, Feb. 6, deadline.

Other deadlines facing both houses in the near future include:

Feb. 13 - original floor action on bills and constitutional amendments originating in each house; Feb. 14 - reconsideration and passage of bills and constitutional amendments originating in each house; Feb. 27 - original floor action on appropriations and revenue bills originating in each house; and Feb. 28 - reconsideration and passage of appropriations and revenue bills originating in each house.

'Gifts From the Earth' views scientists who unlock secrets of planet's resources

Planet Earth

Episode No. 5

For millennia, man has searched for Earth's riches - the natural resources that help build civilizations and provide the energy to run them.

Now, remarkable tools help man find those treasures - but the tools also bring a new awareness that Earth's gifts are finite.

"Gifts From the Earth," fifth of seven programs in the "Planet Earth" series, examines those new tools and the scientists who develop and use them.

The program is scheduled to air on PBS Wednesday at 8 p.m.

"Planet Earth" is made possible by major funding from The Annenberg/CPB Project with corporate funding from IBM.

The great days of "wildcating" are gone, but the search for oil still requires courage, both intellectual and physical. "Gifts from the Earth" follows two petroleum geologists as they make a risky recommendation: to drill for oil in Africa's arid Sudan, where nobody has suspected oil exists.

The geologists use state-of-the-art tools, including a computer that generates 3-D models of the Earth's depths, as they draw their pioneering conclusion. Their boldness pays off as crude oil begins to flow from the Sudan's bosom.

In one of the program's most exciting moments, 100 workers aboard a floating oil rig in the icy North Atlantic face possible disaster: mountain-sized icebergs begin to move inexorably toward them.

Viewers share the tension as the workers monitor the increasing threat from the most menacing iceberg - a monster weighing more than six million tons.

Prospecting from Space

Prospecting for precious metals has long been a matter of luck - but now airborne imaging spectrometry (AIS) is replacing luck with technology.

Viewers of "Gifts from the Earth" fly in a NASA lab plane over the Nevada desert.

The plane's spectrometry equipment uses infrared photography to "read" the presence of up to 200 types of minerals below.

Suddenly the equipment finds a mineral it cannot identify. The mystery mineral is later found to be rare buddingtonite, which scientists say may be a "pathfinder" pointing to deposits of gold.

Eventually, AIS equipment aboard space vehicles may be able to "prospect" from space, pinpointing the locations of deposits across the United States - and perhaps around the world.

Other scientists are studying the distribution of metals and minerals around the planet, and "Gifts from the Earth" travels the globe to investigate.

The program looks at a startling recent discovery: the fact that some deposits, long locked within the Earth, were actually born aeons ago at the bottom of the sea.

Forced up from the fiery layer beneath Earth's crust, they rested on the seafloor.

Eventually, movement of Earth's giant plates - the "puzzle pieces" that compose the planet's crust - thrust the mineral deposits up above sea level.

Further plate movement split them up; that, scientists say, is why deposits thousands of miles apart are virtually identical.

"You Can't Eat Gold"

The program takes a fresh look at scientific findings about other resources, including coal, platinum, and - perhaps the most precious of all - soil.

"You can't eat gold and you can't drink oil and survive... but you can grow food in good soil," says one scientist who is studying erosion problems.

Those problems are creating desert in North Africa - but they are bringing life to Hawaii, where native soil is enriched by clay blown all the way from Asia.

Throughout the program, it is obvious that as man grows to understand the elegant slow processes by which Earth's gifts are formed, we realize that we are using those gifts faster than Earth can create them.

The message of the program - and of contemporary science - is clear: Earth's wonderful gifts are abundant, but they are also finite.

The "Planet Earth" series is made possible through major funding by The Annenberg/CPB Project with corporate funding by IBM, and is produced by WQED/Pittsburgh in association with the National Academy of Sciences. Richard Kiley narrates.

Is an IRA right for you?

You've heard all the talk about Individual Retirement Accounts. The tax break you get. The retirement income you can count on.

But, you're probably wondering if an IRA is right for you.

"Don't you need $2,000?"

If you work, you can start an IRA at Hancock Bank with as little as $5.00. Then, just put in what you want, when you want.

You don't have to contribute every month, or even every year. But your money keeps on working for you, earning interest.

The money you put in is not taxable until you take it out. Even the interest is sheltered.

"How much can I put away?"

If you're employed, you can put up to $2,000 in your IRA. $2,000 each for working couples. Or, a $2,250 combined total for a couple if only one of you is employed.

If you deposit at least $2,000, you're eligible for your choice of 18-month or 30-month fixed-interest rates. Amounts less than $2,000 earn money-market rates that change monthly. When your IRA builds up to $2,000, we'll be happy to lock in a fixed rate for you. It's usually higher.

"Can I still get a break on '85 taxes?"

Yes. You can open an IRA right up until April 15th of 1986, and still apply the tax savings to your 1985 return.

But don't wait past April 15th. Even if the IRS gives you an extension for your return. That's a firm deadline this year.

"Do you have to itemize?"

No. You can use a regular 1040 form and still get credit for your IRA contribution. It comes right off the top of your taxable income.

"When can I get my money?"

You can start taking money out of your IRA at age 59½. Of course, it's your money, and you can take it out any time you want. But the federal government imposes a 10% penalty for withdrawal before 59½. And if your money is in a fixed-rate time deposit, there may be an additional penalty.

So, think of your IRA as a long-term investment for retirement. Not a temporary tax shelter or savings for emergencies.

When you reach 59½, you can get your

IRA in one lump sum, or set up a regular monthly income. Or, if you choose, you can wait until 70½ to start receiving payments.

"I only have a little to put in now. Would I have much by retirement?"

Let's say you're 30 years old, and in the 29% tax bracket. Look at how $50.00 a month would add up:

Estimated value at age 65: (based on 10% interest)

TOTAL DEPOSIT OVER 35 YEARS (@ $50.00 PER MONTH)	$21,000.00
TAX SAVINGS	6,090.00

TOTAL INVESTMENT 14,910.00

ESTIMATED IRA VALUE	172,252.00
ESTIMATED MONTHLY PAYMENT FOR 15 YEARS	2,027.00

TOTAL RETURN $364,858.00

you're on the right track.

So, pick up the phone and call Mae Beth Tracy at 868-4406. She'll answer any other questions you might have. Explain the new self-directed IRAs we offer. She'll quote you our current rates.

And, if you like, Mae Beth will fill out an application form with you over the phone and mail it to you. So, all you'll have to do is sign it at home, and send it with your first deposit.

Or come by any of our offices to ask about IRAs. We're always glad to see you.

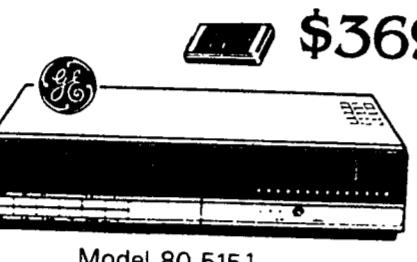

But, open your IRA now. You'll enjoy the satisfaction of getting a tax break this year. While you build an income for retirement.

Hancock District teachers find computers user friendly

The Hancock County School District recently completed a staff development program on computers in the classroom.

Students were dismissed at 1 p.m. and the teachers were given instructions in the use of computers.

The goal of the activity was to familiarize certified staff and teacher assistants in the effective use of the computer in the classroom.

Teachers in grades one through six met with Buddy Calhoun, a consultant with the Curriculum Computer Corporation, and Mrs. Helen Mestayer, Chapter I coordinator.

They presented a program to demonstrate the newly acquired Curriculum Computer Corporation's instructional program in reading and mathematics for Chapter I children in grades one through six.

This system provides individualized lessons with automatic movement according to pupil performance.

It also provides continuous review and challenge with immediate feedback to pupils whose academic histories are kept in the computer.

All teachers in grades seven through 12 were under the direction of High School Principal Don Hillman.

Hillman gave a brief history of computers and lectured to the faculty on the advantages of computer knowledge in education for both student and teacher.

At this point, all teachers were divided into groups to get hands on experience with the Apple IIe computers located at different stations throughout the high school.

This was the first time for many of the teachers to work with computers and several were surprised to find that computers are not that difficult to operate.

Assistant Superintendent James Pair said this was one of the district's most productive staff development workshops so far.

The teachers felt like this was very meaningful and enjoyable. In fact, many teachers left the workshop saying, "I am going to purchase a computer for my home."

Most all the certified personnel in the school district now have 30 hours of staff development credit. The State Department of Education requires only 26 hours and there are an additional 12 hours planned for the Hancock District teachers, Pair noted.

CONGRESSIONAL VISIT—Nell Frisbie of Bay St. Louis and Evelyn McPhail of Diamondhead have just returned from a five-day visit in Washington, D.C. McPhail, Mississippi's Republican National committeewoman, attended a meeting of the Republican National Committee, and White House briefings on the state of the union. McPhail and Frisbie attended a reception at the White House hosted by President Reagan. They visited Mississippi's senatorial and congressional delegations.

Senator Joe Biden to keynote Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner

U.S. Senator Joseph R. Biden Jr. of Delaware, considered a top presidential prospect by many political analysts, will be the keynote speaker at the Mississippi Democratic Party's 1986 Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner.

The Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner, honoring the founding fathers of the Democratic Party—Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson, will be held on Saturday, March 1, at Primus Northgate Convention Center in Jackson.

Recognized as one of the Senate's most able speakers, Biden has drawn rave reviews wherever he's gone in the last few months.

In addition to his appearance at Mississippi Senator John Stennis' birthday party in DeKalb last August, Biden also spoke in Iowa and Florida.

His schedule this year, in addition to the Mississippi Democratic Party's Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner includes visits to Virginia, Alabama, Oklahoma and New Hampshire.

That schedule has helped fuel speculation about a possible presidential bid in 1988, particularly with the decision by U.S. Senator Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts not to seek the White House.

But the Delaware Democrat, who has commuted four hours daily from his Wilmington, Del., home to Washington for the last 13 years, is a strong family man who says the attitude of his wife, Jill, and three children about a presidential campaign will be crucial in his decision about whether to run in 1988.

At 43, Biden now ranks 29th among the 100 U.S. Senators in seniority.

Story Hour titles listed

Story Hour is conducted Thursdays at 10:30 a.m. at the City-County Library on US-90.

Pre-school children are invited to attend.

"Peace At Last" by Jill Murphy begins the program. "Teddy Bear, Teddy Bear," a physical activity, will be performed between stories.

"The Wild Baby Goes To Sea" by

Barbo Lindgren will be the second book read.

This week's story hour features the motion picture film, "Ira Sleeps Over."

Ira is invited, for the very first time, to sleep over at a friend's house. Should he take his teddy bear or try to sleep without him?

having been elected to his first term in 1972. He also serves on two of the Senate's most important and powerful committees, as the ranking Democrat on the Judiciary Committee and as the second-ranking Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee.

Widely known as a leading Senate foreign policy expert, Biden is generally at the forefront of debates on NATO, U.S.-Soviet relations and the Middle East. He has also been a consistent critic of the lack of a comprehensive foreign policy program and a strong arms control advocate.

A former trial lawyer, the Senator has been active on Judiciary in developing crime legislation, particularly in the area of illegal drug trafficking. But the Senator has also been a vigorous opponent of administration efforts to dismantle civil rights protections.

A graduate of the University of Delaware and the Syracuse University College of Law, Biden served two years as a member of the New Castle County Council in Delaware before his election to the Senate.

The annual Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner, which is the Party's major annual fundraising event, will cost $100 per person. However, "Sustaining Members" of the Party, who contribute at least $10 monthly, will be able to buy tickets at a greatly reduced rate.

Hancock farmers eligible for disaster loans

U.S. Department of Agriculture Friday declared Hancock County a farm disaster area to pave the way for low interest loans.

Susan Irby, spokesperson for Congressman Trent Lott's office in Washington, D.C., said farmers who qualify may be eligible for loans up to as much as 80 percent of their natural crop losses or $500,000, whichever is less.

Loan interest rates can be as low as five percent, she noted.

Losses must be the result of Hurricane Juan.

Pearl River and Lamar counties are also included in the USDA disaster declaration. The three counties are among a total of 24 counties in Mississippi to be designated.

Forrest, Harrison, Stone and Jones counties are considered by USDA to be contiguous to the eligible counties, making parts of those counties also eligible for the low-interest loans.

Farmers who think they may be eligible or who would like more information should contact the local Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), Irby said.

Pitalo was reportedly present but not playing cards with the others when law enforcement officers entered the building.

Bay Police Chief Ray Murphy said Saturday that the incident was still under investigation.

The 24 slot machines seized during the raid at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3253 and Disabled American Veterans Post 50 will be destroyed within a "reasonable amount" of time, he added.

Murphy also said the city had filed a petition for possession of the $10,000 in cash seized during the raid.

Bay psychologist to discuss phobias

Phobias and anxiety states will be the subject of a program entitled "New Image—Help for People with Fears And Phobias," to be presented by Dr. Alma Lott Flick of Bay St. Louis at Mississippi Power Auditorium in Gulfport Monday, Feb. 17 at 7 p.m.

The event is free of charge to the public and interested professionals. Dr. Flick holds a master's degree in social work and a doctorate in clinical counseling.

She has trained in the treatment of phobias and nervous disorders and has written "New Image" to provide an educational approach to the treatment of agoraphobia as well as other nervous conditions.

She has written two books, one on "Shyness: The Social Phobia," and a training manual for social workers and other professionals on the art of interviewing.

On Feb. 17, Flick will discuss various kinds of phobias and irrational fears as agoraphobia, fear of flying, fear of doctors and other highly elevated anxiety states.

"In these kinds of conditions the sufferer reacts with panic. Once the panic hits, its victim learns to avoid the scene of the onset of the panic," she states.

"So, avoidances begin to increase to the point that sufferer may become housebound or go without proper medical attention, stop driving a car or eating out in a restaurant, and generally stop doing ordinary daily routines that the average person takes for granted; like grocery shopping or standing in line," Flick noted.

Persons interested in the program are encouraged to attend.

Mental health professionals who may be interested in becoming trained phobia counselors are also invited.

For more information call in Bay St. Louis, 467-8071; or Gulfport, 863-7333.

ETV Brief

SINGLE AND BLACK

"Faces," a Mississippi ETV series focusing on the concerns of blacks and other minorities in Mississippi, features a panel discussion on what life is like for single black women at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 20, on Mississippi ETV. The program will be rebroadcast at 5 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 23.

Both panelists, Connie Shanks of

'Clean Our Beach Day' set for next Saturday

Preparations are underway for the Hancock County Clean Our Beach Day scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 22.

The event is sponsored by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors in cooperation with the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, Chamber of Commerce, Extension Service and Sand Beach Advisory Council.

John Scafide and Ellis Cuevas are chairmen of the event, with some 18 subcommittees.

The primary purpose for the Clean Our Beach Day is for the removal of objects such as bottles, cans and sharp objects below the normal tide line, Scafide indicated.

Feb. 22 was selected as cleanup day because a low tide is scheduled for that morning, Cuevas said.

Clean up is planned from Washington Street in Bay St. Louis to Clermont Harbor.

Registration will be from 9 to 10 a.m. at the staging area located behind the American Legion Home on Coleman Avenue, with Darlene Underwood, county home economist, as chairman.

Participants are requested to bring boots, buckets and gloves.

The area to be covered will be designated and teams will receive assigned areas. Chairmen for the assignments are Jerry Heitzmann and Dusty Rhodes, who will provide maps.

Janelle Kern is chairman of a poster contest being conducted in area schools.

Prizes will be awarded for the winning posters.

Hancock County supervisors, Bay St. Louis and Waveland crews will pickup the debris collected.

Hancock Deputy Sheriff David Garcia is in charge of communications.

From noon until 2 p.m. refreshments and a program will be held on Beach Boulevard between Coleman Avenue and Terrace Street.

Drawings for prizes donated by local merchants will be held for participants, according to Jackie Kidd, chairman.

Ray Kidd is in charge of refreshments, and cokes will be supplied by Gulfport Coca-Cola Bottling Company. Hot dogs will also be available for participants.

Dorothy Sutton is publicity chairman and has placed posters throughout the area in local businesses.

Martha Van Peski is in charge of contacting church and youth groups.

Buddy Klein is in charge of the public address system.

Men arrested in gambling raid plead no contest

Four men arrested during a January raid on a veterans post in Bay St. Louis pleaded no contest to gambling charges in city court.

Jimmy Mitchell of 103 Austin Lane, Bay St. Louis; Delbert A. Cuevas of Route 1, Picayune; Clinton E. Matthews of Pass Christian; and James A. Magnussen Jr. of Long Beach were each fined $200 by Judge John C. Chevin Jr.

Charges against Anthony G. Pitalo Jr. of 342 Carroll Ave., Bay St. Louis, who was also arrested in the raid and charged with gambling, were dropped.

Pitalo was reportedly present but not playing cards with the others when law enforcement officers entered the building.

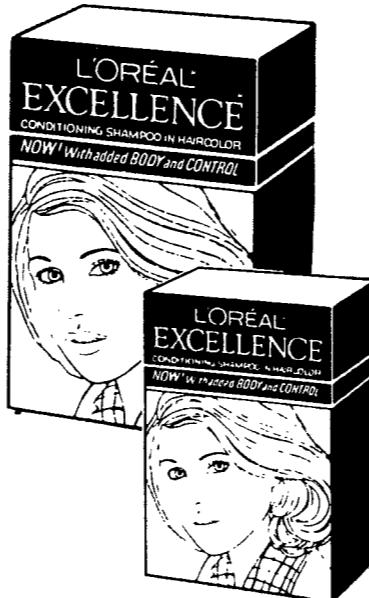

Bay Police Chief Ray Murphy said Saturday that the incident was still under investigation.

The 24 slot machines seized during the raid at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3253 and Disabled American Veterans Post 50 will be destroyed within a "reasonable amount" of time, he added.

Murphy also said the city had filed a petition for possession of the $10,000 in cash seized during the raid.

The show will be open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Admission of $3.50 per person is good for all three days.

The show, a fund raiser for Coast Episcopal Schools, is jointly sponsored by the PTO and Town and Country Antique Shows of Alexandria, Va.

The show will open on Thursday with a gala buffet, cocktail reception and preview party to benefit Coast Episcopal Schools.

The preview party runs from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the Coliseum.

"The $20 donation allows those attending the first opportunity to see and buy from the Antique Show before it is open to the public," stated Mrs. William (Ann) Guice, co-ordinator.

The evening's festivities will feature Mary Anna Underwood playing the concert grand piano.

In conjunction with the show, a luncheon will be served beginning at 11:30 a.m. on Friday, Feb. 21, at the Broadwater Beach Hotel Crown Room.

Luncheon chairman, Mrs. Paul (Julie) Westervelt of Pass Christian, has arranged the program to include the topic "Chinese Export Porcelain and the Collector" by Dr. Clinton R. Weil of St. Louis, Mo.; and a unique style show of Edwardian and Victorian ladies wear.

Each outfit to be shown is an original, handsewn design by Mrs. Rita Riddell of Legends in Lace in Gulfport.

Donation for the luncheon is $15. Unlimited admission to the antique show is included in the donation for both the preview party and luncheon and all donations are tax deductible.

Ticket chairman Mrs. William (Sandy) Hartwell of Pass Christian stressed "reservations should be made for these two benefit events in advance by calling (601) 452-7554 or (601) 255-1203."

"Town and Country Antiques has assembled a varied group of Gulf Coast antique dealers for this show," remarked PTO President Mrs. James (Patty) Hourin.

There will also be Northern and Midwestern dealers bringing antiques suited to the tastes of collectors from Mobile to Houston.

Exhibitors will display, for sale, fine 18th and 19th century formal and country furniture in room settings. Also displayed will be silver and brass items, pottery and porcelain, quilts, decoys, glass folk art, paintings, prints, and French posters available to examine and purchase.

Victorian wicker, linens and lace together with the implements used in their manufacture, antique jewelry, Napoleonic memorabilia, and Chinese export items will be shown.

"An added feature," announced PTO Vice-President Mrs. Jerry (Alline) Coleman, "will be verbal appraisal of family heirlooms and treasures on Saturday and Sunday from 1-3 p.m."

All proceeds from this Heirloom Discovery portion will benefit Coast Episcopal School.

An admission ticket to the show is necessary for participation.

Friendship Oak Chapter National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution

Clare S. Hornsby, well-known attorney and member of the Biloxi law firm of Sekul, Hornsby and Teel, was guest speaker on Wednesday when members of the Friendship Oak Chapter NS DAR met at the Ramada Inn in Long Beach.

She discussed preparing a will in compliance with Mississippi laws.

Hornsby's talk immediately followed a banquet hosted by Mrs. Larry R. Lisenbee of Long Beach.

Also appearing on the program was Mrs. Robert C. Willems who read a paper prepared by Phyllis Schlafly, national chairman of the National Defense Committee, and outlining the costs of illegal immigration.

"Most of the immigrants who came to America prior to 1820 came for freedom, knowing they would have a harder life than they left in the Old World. They came eager to work and build a better economic life than they left behind," Schlafly reported.

"Unfortunately many of those who have arrived in recent years have come to enjoy the benefits of the welfare state financed by the American taxpayers."

Schlafly's study revealed that immigrants can work for months or years before anyone discovers they are illegally employed. Hundreds have illegally taken American jobs.

Each unemployed American receives an average of $7,000 per year in unemployment and welfare benefits, the study revealed.

"Even though it is against the law, aliens do receive unemployment benefits and welfare benefits. Improvident judges have ordered the payments to aliens," Schlafly pointed out.

DAR rituals were led by regent Shirley Davenport. The group voted to provide funds to help with the Beauvoir Arbor Day Observance.

A report on American History Month activities was given by Joe Pilet, and in the drawing of names Mrs. Willems and Gemmell were given free services for making their wills, these prizes provided by attorney Hornsby.

Press books for the chapter were on display as were award ribbons earned.

Mrs. Catherine Shedd will host the next regular meeting of the chapter, scheduled for Saturday, March 8 at 11:30 a.m. at the Ramada Inn of Long Beach. Guest speaker Fred Wagner will discuss architecture in Mississippi.

NSTL stages 4th annual Mardi Gras krewe ball

The National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) Mardi Gras Krewe staged the 4th annual ball on Saturday evening, January 25, at the Jourdan River Shores Country Club in Kiln.

The NSTL Krewe is the youngest krewe organization of the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The Krewe established in 1982 with the primary purpose of introducing the Gulf Coast communities to the activities of NASA, the Navy and other resident agencies at NSTL and highlighting the contributions they are making toward pioneering our country's future.

The theme of this year's NSTL Mardi Gras Ball, "Earth, Growth Thru Research" emphasizes the research and development contribution that NSTL agencies are making.

The Krewe has chosen an 1869 steam locomotive to depict this year's theme and as in the past will participate in four parades: Slidell, Waveland, Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis. The float was designed and constructed by Bernie Parker with the assistance of Randy Ladner with the artistic detail by Hank and Camilla Coolidge.

His Majesty, King of the NSTL Carnival Krewe, is Bernie D. Parker of Long Beach. He is employed with Pan Am/RITS as an electronic technician. The king wore a traditional 18th century white tunic decorated with rhinestones, crystal appliques and silver sequins. His majesty was adorned with a 7 foot collar encrusted with matching sequin appliques and rhinestones which was arrayed with white feathers with lavender inserts.

Her Majesty, Queen of the NSTL Carnival, is Donna Coulter of Pass Christian. She is employed with Mason Chamberlain Inc. as an Applications Systems Analyst. She likewise wore a 16th century gown of white satin decorated in matching majestic styling, as was her matching collar.

Both the king and queen wore matching mantels made of white satin trimmed with white fur and were adorned with a matching headdress which was arrayed with white feathers and lavender lamé inserts.

The captain, Billy Smith, supervisor, ADPE maintenance, Computer Science Corp., wore a black tunic decorated with silver sequins, rhinestones and silver braid. Caped with black fur trimmed mantel he wore a sequined black top hat adorned with black ostrich feathers.

This year's costumes were furnished by Tom Williams, costume designs, Bay-Waveland.

The ball festivities were initiated by the Master of Ceremonies, A. B. Gorham, Pan Am World Services Inc. The ball began with the traditional positioning of the seal by James Odorn and Lisa Alquist, krewe members. Mr. Gorham made the introduction of officers as follows: Cmdr. Hal Lambright (USN Retired), president; W. K. McGee, vice-president; Kay Hanlon, secretary; Sandy Fulgham, treasurer; Marjorie Lasater, historian; and Philip Goodfellow, parliamentarian.

Escorts to the court were Tom Williams, Phil Randall, Susan Dupuis, Bill Everard and Rita Pierce.

The King and Queen began the grand march and an evening of festivities and revelry commenced.

Speaking Oracles of God'

By W. Edwin Kearley, Minister

501 Pine St.

-I Peter 4:11

Bay St. Louis

THE UNMERCIFUL SERVANT (No. 3)

May we study the contrast between the treatment received and the treatment given by this debtor (vs. 28-30). He was forgiven the enormous sum of about one million dollars and refused to forgive a fellow servant who owed the small sum of about 17 cents.

The fact that God has forgiven us an enormous debt should teach us to be forgiving toward our fellow man. Many men pray for mercy while their hands are on the throat of a brother!

To some people mercy is a wonderful thing only so long as it is coming their way. Said Shakespeare: We do pray for mercy; and that same prayer doth teach us to render deeds of mercy.

Consistency thou art a jewel. We must work at being consistent in our actions. The parent must work at being consistent in disciplining his or her children. The worker must be consistent in his dealing with his fellow workers. He must not expect to be treated special while his fellow worker gets all of the rough and hard work.

Now may we notice the fate of the unmerciful servant (vs. 31-35). The inconsistency of the servant aroused the emotions of the fellow servants. He was called before his lord for a reckoning. There he was rebuked and delivered to the tormentors.

The mercy of the Almighty is bestowed in vain unless we allow it to create within us a heart of compassion. The best evidence that God has forgiven us is the fact that we forgive others. Jesus said, "Blessed are the merciful; for they shall obtain mercy." (Matthew 5:7)

No one can expect to receive mercy, when he is unmerciful in his dealings with others.

Also Jesus said, "For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you; but if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your father forgive your trespasses." (Matthew 6:14-15)

Lip forgiveness will not please the Father - it must be "from the heart."

Someone has said: "Tis not enough to weep my sins, tis but one step to heaven; When I am kind to others, then I know myself forgiven.
